CHOOSE THE PLAN RIGHT FOR YOUR GOALS

The State Universities Retirement System (SURS) provides retirement, disability, survivor and death benefits to eligible members.

As a new SURS member, you are required to participate in a qualified 401(a)¹ retirement plan. You have three different options: the Traditional Pension Plan (a defined benefit plan), the Portable Pension Plan (a defined benefit plan) or the Retirement Savings Plan (a defined contribution plan). You get to choose the plan that you feel best aligns with your retirement goals.

You have six months to select your plan. Keep in mind that this is a one-time election that can never be changed. The clock starts on the date SURS receives notice of your employment from your employer. If you do not make a selection, you will be automatically enrolled in the Traditional Pension Plan. To make your choice, log in at surs.org. The enrollment process is simple.

Ready to start? Let's go.

This guide has been prepared for Tier I members. You are a Tier I member if you first became a participant before January 1, 2011.

¹Section 401(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (IRC) is a federal tax law that sets forth the legal requirements for pension plans so that their participants and beneficiaries can receive tax-favored treatment.

Do not delay!

Depending on the plan you choose, delaying your retirement plan election could reduce your retirement benefit.

SURS Deferred Compensation Plan Automatic enrollment for new members

In addition to selecting a core SURS 401(a) retirement plan, members hired on or after July 1, 2023, will be eligible for automatic enrollment in the SURS 457(b) Deferred Compensation Plan (DCP) in accordance with Illinois state law. The SURS DCP is a supplemental savings plan designed to complement the SURS core plan you select — the Traditional Pension Plan, Portable Pension Plan or the Retirement Savings Plan. You will receive notification if automatic enrollment into the DCP applies to you. For more information, go to surs.org/dcp.

WHAT TO THINK ABOUT FIRST

Your personal situation and what you want from a retirement plan will guide your decision.

You will want to consider your age, career plans and all potential sources of future retirement income. Knowing your answers to these questions upfront may help you weigh different plan features as you read on about the three plan choices.

How long will you be employed?

Do you think you are likely to work for a SURS-covered employer long enough to reach the minimum vesting requirements for retirement eligibility? Or do you expect to be a short-term employee? Length of service and vesting are factors to consider in comparing the plans.

All three plans require five years of service to meet minimum vesting requirements for a monthly retirement benefit. If you are unsure how long you will be employed, you may prefer the flexibility of the Portable Pension Plan or the Retirement Savings Plan. If you leave employment with less than five years of service, both plans allow you to take a lump-sum option that includes your employee contributions, plus all of the guaranteed interest from the Portable Pension Plan, or the investment return associated with your contributions to the Retirement Savings Plan. With five or more years of service, both the Portable Pension Plan and the Retirement Savings Plan offer an enhanced lump-sum option that includes your employee contributions, either guaranteed interest or the investment return, and employer matching contributions. See the Vesting chart on page 6.

Will you rely on these benefits to meet your basic income needs when you retire?

Do your future plans depend mainly on receiving a lifetime retirement benefit from SURS? If so, all three plans offer options for lifetime monthly retirement income including retiree health insurance, if eligible.

If lifetime income is your goal for this plan, and you plan to work at least five years to meet the vesting minimum, you might consider the Traditional Pension Plan. However, if you already have your basic retirement income needs met and you are more likely to withdraw your contributions and eligible interest as a lump sum when you end your employment, you might look closely at the Portable Pension Plan and the Retirement Savings Plan because both offer the flexibility of taking an enhanced lump-sum payment.

How will your retirement benefit be determined?

Do you prefer your retirement benefit to be based on a predetermined formula that takes into account your age, earnings and years of service? Or do you want your retirement benefit to be based on your account balance or the amount of money you have secured at the time you retire? Get to know how each plan determines the retirement benefit you would receive. See the Retirement Benefit chart on page 12.

Is someone depending on you for benefits?

Do you have a spouse or another eligible survivor for whom you would want monthly survivor benefits to be payable in the event of your death? Or are built-in survivor benefits not a priority for you?

The Traditional Pension Plan provides built-in survivor benefits. The Portable Pension Plan and the Retirement Savings Plan offer survivor benefits at a cost. Learn about how the survivor benefits and death benefits differ by plan. See the Survivor Benefits chart on page 13 and the Death Benefits charts on page 14.

When you use the interactive Plan Choice Decision Tool at surs.org, you will see stories about people like you and why they chose their plan. Here are just a few examples to help kick off your decision-making process.

Hi, I'm David, Engineering Professor.

David, 45, decided to change gears mid-career, leaving his job at an engineering company and taking a teaching job at a community college for $60,000. He has some money set aside for retirement, but probably not enough. David chose the Traditional Pension Plan because he wants to make sure he has guaranteed income for life, and the built-in survivor benefits mean that his wife will continue to receive benefits after he is gone.

Hi, I'm Isabel, Staff Surgeon.

Isabel, 32, is a new surgeon at a university hospital. She plans to stay at her job for several years, but she likes to have her bases covered as she knows there are a lot of job opportunities at private hospitals in her area. Isabel chose the Portable Pension Plan because if she does change jobs, she can take her money, the guaranteed interest, and dollar-for-dollar employer matching contributions with her after five years of service. However, with five years of service, she will also have the option of receiving a lifetime monthly benefit, survivor benefits at a cost, and retiree healthcare benefits (if eligible) when she reaches retirement age. In the Portable Pension Plan, the monthly benefit amount is based on a set formula that considers years of service and average earnings.

Hi, I'm Laura, Special Events Assistant.

Laura, 56, is recently retired from her first career. She just took a job working special events for the athletic department. She is not planning on working in this job more than a couple of years. Laura chose the Retirement Savings Plan (RSP) because she would like the freedom to choose how her retirement funds are invested. If Laura ends employment with less than five years of service credit, she will be eligible for a lump-sum refund of her contributions and the associated investment gain (or loss). If she ends employment with five or more years of service, her lump-sum refund will also include the employer matching contributions. With five years of service she will also have the option of receiving a lifetime monthly benefit, survivor benefits at a cost, and retiree healthcare benefits (if eligible) when she reaches retirement age. With the RSP, Laura's monthly benefit amount will be based upon her account value, or the amount of income she has secured at the time of retirement.

TAKE A CLOSER LOOK AT YOUR CHOICES

As a member of SURS, you have a choice when it comes to your retirement. You can select one of two defined benefit plans—the Traditional Pension Plan or the Portable Pension Plan—or the defined contribution plan—the Retirement Savings Plan.

A defined benefit plan provides a retirement benefit based on a formula that considers factors such as age, length of service and average salary. A defined contribution plan establishes an account in your name into which your contributions and the employer matching contributions made by the state of Illinois are placed. You decide how your account balance will be invested, selecting from a variety of investment options. Future retirement benefits are based on your account balance, or the amount of income you have secured, at the time you retire.

The Traditional Pension Plan is the default plan. As a defined benefit plan, the Traditional Pension Plan provides members with a lifetime monthly benefit based on a predetermined formula that considers average earnings and years of service. It also includes built-in survivor benefits and an automatic annual increase.

Both the Traditional Pension Plan and Portable Pension Plan provide vested members with lifetime retirement benefits. They are very similar, except for how 1% of your contributions will be used for the feature you want your plan to cover: the automatic survivor benefits built into the Traditional Pension Plan or the enhanced lump-sum feature of the Portable Pension Plan if you leave the system.

The Retirement Savings Plan (RSP) establishes an account in your name into which your contributions and the employer contributions are placed. You have the flexibility to choose where to invest your money within the SURS investment options and when to make adjustments as your needs change. Both hands-off and hands-on options are available.

Your contributions are invested to accumulate assets for your retirement. With the Traditional Pension Plan and Portable Pension Plan, professionals select and manage the investments. With the RSP, you have two options:

- a hands-off investment option, a professionally managed target date portfolio that provides you with the ability to secure guaranteed lifetime income for your retirement, or
- create and manage your own investment portfolio of SURS core investment options.

INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT
Traditional Pension Plan	Portable Pension Plan	Retirement Savings Plan
Defined Benefit – 401(a)	Defined Benefit – 401(a)	Defined Contribution – 401(a)
All funds in the plan are pooled and invested by professional investment managers chosen and monitored by SURS. You receive a benefit based on a pre-determined formula and the employer (state of Illinois) accepts the potential investment risks.		Funds in the RSP are not pooled. They are held in a separate account under your name. You select your funds from SURS' best-in-class fund lineup. You are rewarded with any market gains and accept the potential investment risk.

Do not delay on making your plan choice. Depending on the plan you choose, delaying your retirement plan election could reduce your retirement benefit. If you do not select a plan within six months of the date SURS receives your employment certification, you will be enrolled permanently in the Traditional Pension Plan.

VESTING: WHEN DO YOU QUALIFY FOR A RETIREMENT BENEFIT?

Vesting is the minimum length of service needed to qualify for a retirement benefit. You are always 100% vested in the contributions you make, which means the money is yours to keep.

The Traditional Pension Plan requires five years of service to become vested for a lifetime monthly benefit. The Portable Pension Plan and the Retirement Savings Plan require five years of service to become vested for a lifetime monthly benefit and for the lump sum with the employer match.

About Social Security

You and your SURS employer do not pay into Social Security.* If you qualify for Social Security benefits from a non-SURS-covered employer, those benefits may be affected by the Windfall Elimination Provision or the Government Pension Offset, resulting in lower Social Security benefits. To learn more, contact the Social Security Administration or visit ssa.gov.

*The University of Illinois Foundation and its employees pay into Social Security.

WHAT YOU CONTRIBUTE TO THE PLAN

Your contributions are deducted automatically from your paycheck, beginning immediately following the date you begin employment. All of your contributions, investment earnings and interest accruals are tax-deferred, so you do not pay income taxes on these amounts until you withdraw the funds.

IRS 401(a)-17 earnings limit
Fiscal Year 2024: $330,000.00
Fiscal Year 2025: $345,000.00

You contribute 8.0% of your earnings (9.5% for police and firefighters) up to the annual IRS 401(a)-17 earnings limit. For the purposes of computing SURS benefits, earnings include gross salary, overtime or summer teaching pay and other eligible pay for work performed.

If your salary is higher than the IRS 401(a)-17 earnings limit, you will not make any contributions on any amounts over the limit, and those earnings will not be included in your benefit calculation.

WHAT THE EMPLOYER CONTRIBUTES

The amount contributed by the employer (state of Illinois) toward your retirement depends on which plan you choose.

Traditional Pension Plan and Portable Pension Plan

There is not a set amount of employer contributions. Instead, when your contributions and interest are depleted, which typically occurs five or six years after you retire, the employer contributes annually to the system to guarantee that your benefit continues for as long as you live.

Retirement Savings Plan

The employer contributes an amount equal to 7.6% of your annual salary. Currently, all 7.6% of the state's contribution is put towards your retirement. However, up to 1% of future contributions can be set aside to fund the RSP disability benefit if necessary. Employer contributions begin with the first full payroll period after you elect the Retirement Savings Plan.

EMPLOYER CONTRIBUTIONS
Traditional Pension Plan	Portable Pension Plan	Retirement Savings Plan
The employer contributes the amount necessary to provide lifetime retirement benefits for you and your survivor (if applicable) after your contributions and interest are depleted.		The employer makes matching contributions with each payroll starting with the first full pay period after SURS receives your plan election. The employer contribution is equal to 7.6% of your annual salary. Currently, all 7.6% of the state's contribution is put towards your retirement. However, up to 1% of future contributions can be set aside to fund the RSP disability benefit if necessary.

HOW MUCH DO YOU GET WHEN YOU RETIRE?

Traditional Pension Plan and Portable Pension Plan

These plans provide you with a fixed monthly retirement benefit for life. Your benefit is calculated using a formula based on your years of service, age and average salary, up to a maximum of 80% of your final average earnings. You also receive an automatic annual increase of 3%, compounded annually.

Upon your death, your spouse or other eligible survivor can continue to receive a percentage of the benefits you are entitled to. Survivor benefits are automatically built into the Traditional Pension Plan. The Portable Pension Plan reduces the member's retirement benefit to cover the cost of providing a survivor benefit. Read on for How much does your survivor get? on page 13.

Retirement Savings Plan

This plan does not restrict your retirement benefit to a fixed amount set by law, as the other two plans do. There is no minimum or maximum benefit.

When you retire, your benefit will be based upon:

- your account balance, which includes your contributions, employer matching contributions and investment returns, or
- the amount of income you have secured.

The decision of how to invest toward your retirement income goal is up to you. You can:

- choose the hands-off default investment option, SURS Lifetime Income Strategy, or
- create and manage your own portfolio of SURS core investment options.

The SURS Lifetime Income Strategy (LIS) is designed to help you meet your basic income needs in retirement. It is a professionally managed target date portfolio that automatically adjusts your investments over time and offers the option to secure guaranteed lifetime income for your retirement years.

If you will have your basic retirement needs met elsewhere and you are comfortable with making investment decisions, you can select among the SURS core funds to build your own portfolio. Because your retirement benefit will be based on your account balance, it will be very important to regularly monitor your investments and make adjustments as needed.

Smart tip

Remember, the Internal Revenue Service limits how much of your salary is included in the calculation of any SURS benefits. If your salary is higher than the IRS 401(a)-17 annual earnings limit, you will not make any contributions on any amounts over the limit, and those earnings will not be included in your benefit calculation.

The decision about the retirement benefit you want is up to you.

If you invest in the SURS LIS, you have the option to begin securing income based on a target retirement age and secure income level that you set. It is all done automatically and when you get to retirement you begin taking monthly withdrawals based on the amount of income you have secured over time.

If you have invested in the SURS core funds and wish to receive lifetime monthly benefits, you can:

- move some or all of your account balance into the SURS LIS for guaranteed monthly income you cannot outlive, or
- transfer your account balance to an RSP annuity provider. Your monthly retirement benefit will be based on the annuity options and rates available at that time.

With the RSP, there is no automatic annual increase. However, if you invest in the SURS LIS, it is designed to capture market growth so you benefit from gains in rising markets which allows your withdrawal amounts to increase in retirement. Your income is protected by multiple insurance companies so your monthly benefit will not decrease with market declines or run out if you live longer than expected.

For details about the RSP investment options, read the SURS Retirement Savings Plan Getting Started Guide.

The benefit you receive when you retire will depend upon the plan you select.

WILL YOU GET RETIREE HEALTH INSURANCE?

You will receive retiree health insurance benefits from the state of Illinois at retirement, as long as you meet the service and eligibility requirements and elect to receive lifetime monthly retirement benefits from the plan you choose. Details on the health insurance programs are available at surs.org/insurance.

Members who are 65 and older, and eligible for Medicare participate in the Total Retiree Advantage Illinois (TRAIL) Medicare Advantage Program. Medicare premiums apply.

IF YOU LEAVE SURS BEFORE YOU RETIRE

You may intend to stay with a SURS-covered employer until retirement. However, a time may come when your personal situation prevents you from doing so.

All members have the option of leaving contributions and interest on file at SURS after employment ends until April 1st of the year following the year you attain your Required Minimum Distribution (RMD) age*. You might consider this option if future employment with another SURS employer or a reciprocal employer is a possibility. Depending on the years of service and the plan selected, the potential for benefit growth while your account is inactive will vary.

If you leave the system entirely, you can request a lump-sum separation refund. You are eligible for a refund if you have ended your employment with all SURS-covered employers or if you have been on layoff for over 120 days. Keep in mind that by accepting a refund, you give up your right to future benefits.

Smart tip

The Portable Pension Plan provides an enhanced lump-sum option. This option is attractive if you are uncertain about what type of retirement benefit you desire and need flexibility. If you leave the system with less than five years of service, the plan provides a lump-sum refund of your employee contributions and interest. With five or more years of service, you are eligible for a monthly retirement benefit or a lump-sum refund that includes your employee contributions, guaranteed interest and dollar-for-dollar employer matching contributions.

*Born on or before 6/30/49, RMD age is 70.5; born between 7/1/49-12/31/50, RMD age is 72; born on or after 1/1/51, RMD age is 73. The RMD age is scheduled to increase to age 75 for RMD distributions after 2033.

HOW MUCH DOES YOUR SURVIVOR GET?

Depending on your personal situation, you may want to look closely at the survivor benefits offered by each plan.

What are survivor and death benefits?

A survivor benefit is a monthly benefit payable to a qualified survivor.

A death benefit is typically a one-time, lump-sum payment payable to your named beneficiary.

Traditional Pension Plan

Survivor benefits are automatically built in, and there is no additional cost. Your survivor receives a minimum of 50% of your earned retirement annuity, and an automatic increase of 3%, compounded annually. A qualified survivor includes a spouse, a child under age 18, a child who is a full-time college student under age 22, a disabled child who was disabled prior to age 18, or a dependent parent.

If you retire and do not have a qualified survivor, these benefits are never wasted. The contributions that were set aside to provide survivor benefits will be paid out to you, with interest, either as a lump sum or used to supplement your lifetime retirement benefits through an additional monthly benefit.

Portable Pension Plan

Survivor benefits are not automatically provided but are available at a cost.

When you retire, you will be asked whether you would like to provide your survivor with a monthly benefit in the event of your death. Joint and survivor benefit options include 50%, 75% or 100% of your monthly benefit at the time of your death, and an automatic increase of 3%, compounded annually. If you elect a joint and survivor benefit option, your monthly retirement benefit will be reduced to cover the cost of these benefits. The cost depends on the age of the member and survivor at retirement.

Retirement Savings Plan

You can set up lifetime benefits for yourself or for you and your survivor using your choice of options. These include a lifetime income amount provided by income secured in the SURS Lifetime Income Strategy or by purchasing a joint and survivor annuity through an RSP service provider.

A SURS Member Service Representative can help you understand how much you and your survivor could get under each option. This information will be covered in detail during pre-retirement counseling sessions.

Other options include joint and survivor lifetime benefits, lifetime benefits with guaranteed periods, and other variations, at the cost of a reduced lifetime retirement benefit.

WEIGHING DEATH BENEFITS

Your SURS retirement plan is an important financial asset. If you pass away, a one-time, lump-sum death benefit may be payable to the individual of your choice, whether that is your spouse or another named beneficiary.

If you are in the Portable Pension Plan or the Retirement Savings Plan and you are married, you are required to name your spouse or civil union partner as your sole primary beneficiary. You may name someone else only with your spouse or civil union partner's consent and notarized signature on the beneficiary form.

BEFORE RETIREMENT
Traditional Pension Plan	Portable Pension Plan	Retirement Savings Plan
If you die without a qualified survivor or if survivor benefits are not payable and you were an active employee at the time of your death, the death benefit is comprised of your total contributions with accrued interest plus an additional death benefit of up to $5,000. If you died while an inactive employee, the death benefit is comprised of your total contributions with accrued interest. You must have at least 1.5 years of service credit for survivor benefits to be payable if you are an active employee. If you are an inactive employee, you must have at least 10 years of service credit for survivor benefits to be payable. If survivor benefits are payable, the death benefit amount is approximately seven-eighths (87.5%) of your total contributions with accrued interest since one-eighth of your contributions funds the survivor benefits.	If you die with less than 1.5 years of service credit, the death benefit is comprised of your total contributions with accrued interest. If you die with at least 1.5 years of service credit, the death benefit is a lump sum comprised of your contributions with accrued interest, plus an equal amount of employer contributions. If you have an eligible spouse who will be receiving a pre-retirement survivor benefit, this amount is then reduced by the actuarial value of any pre-retirement survivor benefit that is payable.	If you die while actively working with less than 1.5 years of service, or after termination with less than five years of service, the death benefit amount is your account investment value, excluding the employer contributions and the associated investment returns. If you die while actively working with at least 1.5 years of service credit, or after termination with at least five years of service, the death benefit payable to your named beneficiary is equal to your account investment value, including employer contributions.
AFTER RETIREMENT
Traditional Pension Plan	Portable Pension Plan	Retirement Savings Plan
If survivor benefits are payable, there is no death benefit. Without a survivor benefit payable, the death benefit is the remainder of employee contributions with accrued interest (or $1,000, if greater).		If you choose the plan's default investment option, the SURS Lifetime Income Strategy, and select a joint and survivor option, then die after withdrawals start, your surviving spouse can continue to take the withdrawals over their lifetime. If the joint and survivor option has not been elected, the participant's guaranteed withdrawal benefit terminates, and the spouse can elect to receive the market value of the investments in a lump sum. Or if you purchase a joint and survivor lifetime benefit contract (annuity) through an RSP service provider, a benefit will be paid to your spouse on a monthly basis for life. The death benefit depends on the contract.
